

CycleConf

2017

Stockholm, Sweden

What is CycleConf?

CycleConf is a tech conference about Cycle.js. Cycle.js is a functional and reactive JavaScript Framework. The first edition took place in the spring 2016 in Copenhagen, Denmark.

This year CycleConf will take place from the 21st to the 23rd of April in Stockholm, Sweden. Last year the conference had an attendance of approximately 60 people and we're counting on being around a hundred this year.

Why do a conference?

The idea of having a conference about Cycle.js came to allow this growing online community to meet in real life, exchange and make the framework grow. It's a time of tech talks and presentations. It's although a great opportunity to create focused contributions upon Cycle.js and its ecosystem. Part of the conference time is allocated to hacking.

Who is behind it?

In 2016 Rise Digital hosted the conference. 2017 will be hosted by Futurice.

"CycleConf was a dream come true. Fantastic people of diverse backgrounds, all continents, sharing amazing ideas"
@andrestaltz 24th of April 2016

What is the format of the conference?

Last year we tried a unique combination of hackathon and tech-talks. We've found it to be a very good way to get people familiar with Cycle.js and to encourage contribution on the framework and its ecosystem. In 2016, we scheduled great tech-talks, had amazing surprises in lightning talks, and for the last day everyone got a chance to present their work over the weekend. We are aiming for a similar format for 2017.

"If every conf / hackathon were as warm and productive for me as #CycleConf last weekend - I would try to go every time!"

Why do we need sponsorships?

Cycle.js is a young open source framework that is growing fast and we want to create a high-quality conference at a relatively affordable price. We are not trying to make a profit, just cover costs.

What you will get by becoming a sponsor?

Sponsoring will help make your company visible during the event, CycleConf is a great place to meet developers from around the world.

CycleConf is only aiming to cover costs, any profits will be donated to further development of Cycle.js through OpenCollective.

We have two sponsorship packages as listed below.
